Typhoid-Fever at the V. M. I.

Dr. Paulus A. Irving, secretary of the State Board of Health, returned to this city yesterday from Lexington, where he had been to investigate an outbreak of fever among some of the cadets at the Virginia Military Institute. There have been eight cases there, six of which are now under treatment in the institute's hospital. A few of the patients are quite til, the others appear to have the disease in a mild form. They are all receiving as good treatment at the institute as they could have anywhere. Dr. Irving was not able to discover the source of the disease, but he brought home with him samples of the milk and water which the boys have been drinking, and which will be analyzed here. Thus it may be that some light may be thrown upon what is now a mystery. As for the town of Lexington, the Dis patch correspondent there telegraphs that the physicians report the health of the community "better and less typhoid-fever than ever before."

The Committees on Light, Cemeterles, and First Market will all meet at 8 o'clock at the City Hall.

Mr. Stearns State Warden.

Mr. Stearns has been appointed warden for the Virginia Division of the League of American Sportsmen. This selection was forecasted in the Dispatch some time ago. The official notification came yesterday.

Mr. Stearns has chosen Mr. W. C. Lynham, of Richmond, deputy warden, and other deputies will be appointed as rapidly as possible. The object of the league is to protect game in the country.

The only case of any interest in the Police Court yesterday was that of a settled woman, charged with pulling flowers in Oakwood Cemetery. In order to make an example of the case Justice Graves, who presided in the absence of Justice Crutchfield, imposed a fine of $10.

The remaining cases were unimportant.

Looking for Her Son.

Mrs. Mary Banks, of Petersburg, wrote the Governor yesterday asking him re-garding the whereabouts of her son. Ernest L. Banks, who enlisted in the navy at Norfolk some time ago. She says she is 63 years of age, and that her son was her only support. She has not heard from him in a long time.

The Dauger of the Competitive Examination.

(Nineteenth Century Review.)

Our modern system of education generally is greatly open to the objection that it tends to cultivate the purely receptive faculty too much, and the reasoning, imaginative, inventive, and creative faculties too little. Take the case of our public examinations for the army, navy, and civil services. Theusands of young men compete for these every year, and the educational lines of our schools are largoly directed to meet them. It is very well known that these examinations are generally framed so as to put a strong premium on a certain clever receptively of brain rather than on real force of intellect and character. Young men with the mind
